

TAKE ACTION

According to the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA),

"COMMUNICATION DISORDERS ARE AMONG THE MOST COMMON DISABILITIES IN THE UNITED STATES."
.....

A child's overall future and success can be improved greatly through the early identification of communication disorders, motor skill delays, and sensory processing disorders, establishment of their causes, and subsequent intervention.

Occupational Therapists help children to function in their "occupations" or "life roles." For children this refers to their ability to use their bodies to play and attain developmental gross and fine motor skills essential for academic readiness and achievement in the older child.

If you have concerns about your child, now is the time to Take Action! Take the first step to assure your child's success by calling our office at 678.377.9634 to schedule an appointment today.
